About the Conference

LAW SEMINARS INTERNATIONAL

What previous attendees have said:

“Fantastic conference; perfect to meet the who’s who of renewable energy in the Midwest.”

“Topics were timely and ably addressed.”

“Speakers were well informed and engaging.”

“Really enjoyed the program.”

Each year we update this program to focus on new developments and, of course, this year brings us the Trump Administration's dramatic shift from the Obama era promotion of carbon-free renewables to promotion of traditional fossil fuels. As a result, this year we'll have less focus on federal policy and more on state renewables initiatives and the demand drivers behind those initiatives.

A big part of that is the Sustainable Communities Movement as an emerging driver for renewables development. We'll feature a discussion of development trends for solar gardens and other forms of community solar.

The consistent thing that remains is the impact on Midwest electric energy markets and grid operations. You'll hear from key players on ways centralized renewables could take on more of the characteristics of base load generation.

After laying this groundwork, we'll have special addresses by Commissioner Dan Lipschultz of the Minnesota PUC and Christopher Clark from Xcel Energy on policy priorities and business pros and cons for greater utility reliance on renewables.

The program will wrap up with a very practical discussion of essential project development contracts and the challenge of making them work in harmony. We hope you'll join us for what promises to be a very interesting, timely, informative discussion.

~ Program Co-Chairs: Alexandra Lipsky Mertens, Esq. of Stoel Rives LLP and Daniel A. Yarano, Esq. of Fredrikson & Byron PA

8:30 Solar Gardens and Other Forms of Community Solar

Update on who is doing what around the region: Opportunities and challenges

Darrick Moe, President & CEO
Minnesota Rural Electric Association ~ Maple Grove, MN

Amanda Rome, Esq., Lead Assistant General Counsel
Xcel Energy ~ Minneapolis, MN

9:45 Energy Infrastructure Development on Tribal Lands: Lessons from the Dakota Access Pipeline (DAPL)

The impact on tribal receptivity to energy projects; lessons for approaching Tribes and obtaining Tribal consent; opportunities in Tribal preferences for renewables over fossil fuel projects

Troy A. Eid, Esq.
Greenberg Traurig LLP ~ Denver, CO

10:30 Break

10:45 Special Addresses: Impact of State Policy Priorities and Business Pros and Cons for Greater Utility Reliance on Renewables

Renewables development and integration into grid operations: The broad range of issues including adaptation to disruptive technologies, ratepayer participation in pilot projects, cost recovery for storage; viability of, and alternatives to, net metering

The Hon. Dan Lipschultz, Esq., Vice-Chair
Minnesota Public Utilities Commission ~ St. Paul, MN

Supplier perspective on market realities and the current incentives and disincentives for renewables development

Christopher B. Clark, Esq., President
Xcel Energy ~ Minneapolis, MN

12:15 Lunch (on your own)

Faculty: Renewable Energy in the Midwest Conference

Alexandra Lipsky Mertens, Program Co-Chair, is a partner at Stoel Rives LLP. She focuses on energy finance matters, advising energy developers on the acquisition, development, financing, and sale of energy projects.

Daniel A. Yarano, Program Co-Chair, is Co-Chair of the Energy Practice Group and chair of the Renewable Energy Group at Fredrikson & Byron PA. In the renewable energy market, he focuses on the wind, solar and biomass energy sectors and energy transmission.

Christopher B. Clark, Special Address is President of Xcel Energy - Minnesota, South Dakota, and North Dakota. Previously, he was Regional Vice President of Rates and Regulatory Affairs - Minnesota. Prior to joining Xcel Energy, he worked as an in-house attorney for Alliant Energy.

The Hon. Dan Lipschultz, Special Address, Vice-Chair of the Minnesota Public Utilities Commission, was in private practice before being appointed to the commission. Before that, he served as Assistant General Counsel for a telecommunications carrier and as lead counsel in the Minnesota Attorney General's Residential Small Business Utilities Division and in the Public Utilities Division representing the Commission.

Stan Berman is a partner at Sidley Austin LLP where he represents electric utilities and other electric industry participants in complex high-stakes litigation and appeals at FERC, state regulatory commissions, and in the courts. Previously, he was the Assistant General Counsel in charge of the Office of Hydroelectric and Electric Litigation at the FERC.

Charlie Daum is Managing Director for Business Development at Altenex LLC. Previously, he was a founding member of Geronimo Energy, a leading wind and solar developer. He has worked in many areas of the energy business, specializing in origination, PPA structuring, M&A and all aspects of project development.

Troy A. Eid co-chairs the American Indian Law Practice Group at Greenberg Traurig LLP focusing on environmental enforcement, and energy and natural resource development. He formerly served as United States Attorney for the District of Colorado.

Betsy Engelking joined Geronimo Energy as Vice President in January 2012 and currently leads the Company's policy efforts. Previously, she was Director of Resource Planning for Xcel Energy, where she developed and implemented long-range power supply plans. She has also held positions with Great River Energy and the Minnesota Public Utilities Commission.

Eric Hansen, PE, PG is Director of Environmental Services at Westwood Professional Services. His primary focus is on renewable energy and power delivery projects, including regulatory analysis, environmental due diligence, field application of remediation technologies, geo-engineering design, environmental remediation, and power line routing

Richard Heinemann, Boardman & Clark LLP, provides legal services to municipalities and local governments throughout the upper Midwest. He advises clients on utility asset transfers, power supply and power purchase agreements, and renewable energy project development. He also serves as general counsel for three municipal electric joint action agencies and two intergovernmental commissions.

Jason A. Johns is a partner at Stoel Rives LLP. His experience includes the negotiation of major facility contracts, such as interconnection, transmission, and power purchase agreements, the prosecution of disputes at FERC, and counseling and defending clients on issues related to regulatory compliance.

Erik E. Malinowski is a shareholder at Fredrikson & Byron PA. His practice focuses on the development and financing of renewable energy projects, helping his clients obtain and negotiate power purchase agreements, hedging or swap arrangements, project investment and finance documents, and project sale and acquisition agreements.

Philip J. (P.J.) Martin is Director of Resource Planning and Bidding for Northern States Power Company-Minnesota. Previously, he was a Portfolio Director and Energy Trader at ACES Power Marketing, engaged in trading and wholesale portfolio management activities on behalf of electric cooperatives, municipal utilities, IPPs, banks, and other customers.

Darrick Moe is President & CEO of the Minnesota Rural Electric Association. He began his career as an electrical engineer with Western Area Power Administration and has served on power system reliability committees for NERC, MRO, WECC, and the North American Transmission Forum.

Andrew P. Moratzka is Chair of the Energy Development Practice Group at Stoel Rives LLP. He represents iron mines, paper companies, refineries, steel manufacturers and other large industrial customers in electric and gas rate cases and various regulatory matters at the state and federal level.

Amanda Rome is Lead Assistant General Counsel at Xcel Energy and serves as regulatory attorney for its northern jurisdictions in five states. Previously she practiced commercial litigation at Faegre Baker Daniels LLP in Minneapolis and at Winston & Strawn LLP in Chicago.

Beth H. Soholt is Executive Director of the non-profit Wind on Wires (WoW) organization. Its members include non-profit environmental organizations, Tribal representatives, wind developers, wind turbine manufacturers, and businesses that provide goods and services to the wind industry.
